

Photography Opportunity

For those who know about this, consider this your reminder. For new folks, I want to pass along a photography opportunity available to local photographers to volunteer for a great cause.

Every year, on the second Saturday in August, there is an event called Identity Crisis that raises funds for the Breast Cancer Awareness of the Cumberland Valley (BCACV). For lack of a better term, this is a costume type party for adults, and involves a good bit of the night life in Shepherdstown to pitch in. Each year has a different theme, and this years them is Escape to the Islands. There will be a pre-party, a possible parade through town, a red carpet event, and then specials at participating venues. There will also be a dance party that will be held at the Town Run Tap House featuring Jah Works. This is a great even that raises a lot of money for an even better organization.

What we are looking for is photographers to take pics throughout the night, Pics post it Instagram, Twitter, Facebook, etc. If you do photos professionally, you are encouraged to watermark you pictures so you get credit for them. This even is a lot of fun and I guarantee you will enjoy it!

If you are interested, please see me or Melanie. We will get you signed up.

Thanks,

Kelly Riner (riner6712@comcast.net)
